AND WHAT NEXT? FUTURE
PROFESSIONAL PATHS FOR VOLUNTEERS

Project result 2:

Networking tool – “Stakeholders online Network”

www.nextpaths.eu

The online platform is:

a free digital tool which will serve as a network among all the key stakeholders (NGOs, enterprises, public entities etc.) and youth and young volunteers to facilitate the integration in the labour market, by valuing the volunteering experiences, the knowledge and transversal skills and competencies gained during the volunteering service

Project partners held their third transnational project meeting (TPM) on the 21st and 22nd of February, in Bucharest, Romania, marking a significant step forward in the project's development. The TPM took place over two days and brought together partners from different countries who had previously only met online due to pandemic restrictions.

The first day of the TPM kicked off with a positive atmosphere as partners arrived at AHA Youth Center, where they were hosted by D.G.T. The agenda for the day included project management, quality evaluation, dissemination, and Project result 1 – the Employment Guide.

TPM 3

On the second day, the partners continued with renewed energy and focused on Project result 2, internal piloting feedback, platform promotion strategies, and sustainability. The group paid particular attention to the platform that is to be launched as part of the project. The discussions were fruitful, and the partners made significant progress in refining the project's objectives and strategies.
